

2006-2008 PG&E NATE Certification Initiative

Core and Specialty

The 2006-2008 PG&E NATE Certification Initiative is designed to reward HVAC technicians and contractors who have successfully completed the associated industry training and passed the initial Core and Specialty NATE certification examinations. Technicians and contractors who apply for this incentive must work in the PG&E service territory to participate. This initiative is limited to first time applicants to the NATE certification process and will be restricted to the first 2000 successful applicants during 2006-2008 on a first come, first served basis or until funding is depleted. Both test elements; the Core Exam and one of the four Specialty Exams must be successfully completed and passed prior to submission of an Application Form. The program does not offer a reward for a Core Exam alone. Technicians that have previously taken and passed the Core and Specialty NATE certification in any of the disciplines listed are not eligible for this program.

Eligible candidates who complete the Core and a Specialty exam will qualify for a $150 Incentive.

NATE Certification components:

- The Core Exam is a prerequisite for full NATE certification. This test covers Safety, Tools, Soft Skills, and Electrical Questions. The technician can take this exam separate from the Specialty Exam portion, however to qualify for this incentive both components of the Core and Specialty element must be successfully complete and passed before you can apply for an incentive.
- The Specialty Exams cover Installation, Service, Systems Components, and Applied Knowledge: Regulations, Codes, and Safety.

Specialty Exams cover:

- Air Conditioning – PG&E Accepted
- Air Distribution – PG&E Accepted
- Gas Heating – PG&E Accepted
- Heat Pumps – PG&E Accepted
- Oil Heating – Not Accepted in PG&E Territory

Submit a completed application and a copy of your Official NATE Certificate to:

Pacific Gas and Electric Company
Integrated Processing Center
2006-2008 NATE Certification Incentive
Attn: Ravi Patel
P.O. Box 7265
San Francisco, CA 94120-7265

2006-2008 PG&E NATE Certification Initiative

Application Form Core and Specialty

Eligible candidates must work in the PG&E service territory to receive the benefits of the 2006-2008 PG&E NATE Certification Initiative offered by PG&E. This initiative is limited to first time applicants to the NATE certification process. Eligible candidates passing the NATE Core and a Specialty certification exam are eligible to receive a one time reimbursement of $150. This PG&E NATE Certification Initiative is available April 1 through December 15, 2008 to all qualifying technicians on a first come first served basis or until funding is depleted. Additionally, PG&E does not certify, endorse individuals or contractors, guarantee nor stipulate that participation in this initiative will receive work from PG&E as a result of this initiative.

Applicants / Candidates are required to complete all of the following information.

Please indicate the technician exam type: Installation Exam Service Exam

First Name
Last Name
Home Phone
Employer
Employer Street Address
Employer City, State and Zip
Employer Phone Number
Employer E-mail
Employer Fax Number
NATE ID
Exam Date
Exam Location

I authorize my employer listed above to receive this incentive directly.
 Employer's Tax ID # _____ Employer's Tax Status _____

I have read and understand the term and conditions; I certify that the information submitted is true and correct. I understand that the 2006-2008 PG&E NATE Certification Incentive program administrator must verify that I have passed or failed with NATE/ VGI Training of Arlington, Texas prior to eligibility.

 Signed Date

 Print Name Title