*As reported to the California Energy Commission’s Power Source Disclosure Program excluding voluntary unbundled renewable energy credits. PG&E data is subject to an independent audit and verification that will not be completed until October 1, 2024.

San José Clean Energy elected to receive carbon-free resource allocations from PG&E, including nuclear, as San José Clean Energy customers already pay for it through the PG&E Power Charge Indifference Adjustment (PCIA).

Unspecified sources of power refers to electricity that is not traceable to a specific generating facility, such as electricity traded through open market transactions. Unspecified sources of power are typically a mix of all resource types, and may include renewables.
