Proof of Vehicle Registration

Document 1: Registration Card or Temporary Registration

- To provide proof of vehicle registration you may submit either your registration card from the Department of Motor Vehicles (DMV) or a valid temporary registration from your dealership.
- Your registration card is the document you receive in the mail from the DMV along with your annual license plate sticker.
- Your temporary registration, called the “New Vehicle Dealer Notice” or the “Used Vehicle Dealer Notice”, is often folded up and taped to your windshield by the dealership. If submitting the temporary registration, be sure to unfold the document so all edges of the document are included.
- Your vehicle must be registered to your current, residential PG&E address and your registration document must be valid.
- Note: If the address on your registration is not your current, residential PG&E address, we do not accept Change of Address forms from the DMV. You must get an updated registration card listing your current address to be eligible.
- Your document must be a complete, legible scan or photo with all details visible.

A close-up photo of the equipment's serial number must be provided. The serial number is a unique combination of numbers and letters that help identify the equipment.

To find the equipment's serial number you should:

- Review the equipment's User Manual or installation guide
  - These documents often include diagrams and descriptions of the equipment's components.
- Check the exterior
  - Look at the outside of the equipment.
  - There should be a sticker, label, or a metal plate with important information, including the serial number.
- Contact customer support
  - If you're having trouble finding the serial number or need assistance, contact the equipment's manufacturer customer support to help you.

NOTE: Ford Chargers will use the Charger ID as their serial number instead of a traditional serial number.

Sample of the Equipment Serial Number

Siemens eMobility Inhab Load Manager

Siemens eMobility Inhab Load Manager will use the Production Date Code instead of a traditional serial number. A close-up photo of the equipment's Production Date Code must be provided. It will be a combination of letter and numbers to help identify when the equipment was produced.

To find the Inhab Load Manager's Production Batch Code:

- Review the equipment's User Manual or installation guide
  - These documents will help you safely open the equipment's enclosure.
- Open the equipment's enclosure
- Find the printed Production Date Code inside the enclosure

Document 5: Electrician’s Invoice for Installation of Equipment (Standard Pathway)

An electrician’s invoice is required as proof of installation of the EV charging equipment, except for the NeoCharge Smart Splitter.

The invoice must include the following information:

- Contractor’s name
- Contractor’s license number

NOTICE OF ACTION
MEDI-CAL APPROVAL

Dear [REDACTED],

We have reviewed your eligibility for health coverage. We used the information you gave us and state federal data to make this decision.

[REDACTED]

You qualify for Medi-Cal because your household income is below the Medi-Cal limit. Your eligibility for Medi-Cal begins [REDACTED]. Your Medi-Cal coverage will continue unless you are found no longer eligible. This could happen at the time your eligibility is renewed or when your situation changes.

We counted your household size and income to make our decision. For Medi-Cal, your household size is [REDACTED] and your monthly household income is [REDACTED]. The monthly Medi-Cal income limit for your household size is [REDACTED]. Your income is below this limit, so you qualify for Medi-Cal.

State Hearing: If you think this action is wrong, you can ask for a hearing. The back page tells you how. Your benefits may be changed if you ask for a hearing before this action takes place. You have only 90 days to ask for a hearing. The 90 days started the day after the county sent you this notice.

- You qualify for other health insurance.
- You move. If you move to another county, you can report your change to your new county.

You may report changes to your local county office in person or by mail, fax, phone or electronically. The contact information is on the back page of this notice.
