

Help shape the future of clean energy use

Residential Hourly Flex Pricing

Participate in cutting edge technology that will save you money and support cleaner energy in the comfort of your home.

Hourly Flex Pricing is a three-year pilot program that offers a risk-free way to lower energy costs while promoting cleaner energy and a more reliable grid.

With Hourly Flex Pricing, electricity prices are the same or lower than comparable rate plans for most of the year.

How it works:

- Electricity prices vary by hour. Price forecasts are published seven days in advance, so you can plan ahead. Final prices are set one day in advance.
- You can save money by shifting energy use to times when it's more plentiful and cheaper.
- Set it and forget it. Automation technology can streamline your usage to help you save even more.
- The pilot ends December 31, 2027. At that time, you will remain on your current rate plan.
- We encourage you to stay on for the duration of this risk-free pilot. However, you can end your participation anytime.

Hourly Flex Pricing is risk free

You will not pay more on Hourly Flex Pricing than you would have on your current rate plan. While on the pilot you will:

- ✓ Continue to receive and pay your regular monthly PG&E energy statement, with energy charges based on your current rate plan.
- ✓ Receive a monthly supplemental Hourly Flex Pricing statement that tracks your performance.

To learn more and enroll, visit pge.com/hfp.

Note: If you are a Community Choice Aggregation (CCA) customer, your CCA must participate in the pilot for you to enroll.

If you have questions, please email HourlyFlexPricingSupport@pge.com

After 12 months, if you performed better in total on Hourly Flex Pricing than on your current rate plan, you will receive a credit for the difference.

