Time-of-use rates are coming

Start preparing with your PG&E online account

We are committed to helping your business succeed with time-of-use rates, coming this November.

The best way to start preparing is by understanding the way your business uses electricity and how it impacts your bill. Your PG&E online account offers free, easy-to-use tools to assess your energy use and identify the rate plan option that best suits your business.

Once you're on the overview page, click Cost & Usage Trends to see your energy usage history and identify the times and activities that impact your bill. Then you can make energy and cost-saving decisions for your business.

Click Rate Analysis to compare rate plan options and find the best rate plan for your business. Comparisons based on your usage and demand history will show estimated costs on your current rate as well as other rate plans for which your business is eligible.
